“Quality, time and labour concerns make alternatives to traditional construction methods more attractive. The emphasis is on condensing the construction schedule of a project and saving cost.”

–“Construction Industry Trends,” Construction Dive

EVENT OVERVIEW

Modular construction has proven to be a more profitable & cost effective way of construction with correct planning & implementation. In an era where labour shortages have drastically impacted the productivity of companies to the point they've been forced to shut down. A report by the Financial Times in June 2022 has stated that thousands of local builders & contractors in the UK have collapsed including veteran companies that have been in the business for over 40 years due to rising costs. Construction companies need to heed to the sign of times; adapt or perish. Modular construction & other similar Modern Methods of Construction are the way forward.

Companies that have been quick enough to adopt modular methods have seen significant increase in productivity. Volumetric Building Companies (VBC), leaders in multi-family housing with markets in UK, Poland & Serbia are examples of this. With implementation of MMC, they were able to complete a project which would've taken them 24 months, within 11 months. That's more than a year in time that they've saved. Not only do MMC processes reduce the time required on-site, but as a direct side effect, there is less need for resources, labour and materials storage.

Growing demand for Building Information Modelling, Modular construction, and building materials industry is being observed across the Czech Republic Construction and Infrastructure market. The Czech Republic construction market size was valued at $48 billion in 2021 while also being supplemented by advancements in modular & prefab methods with estimated construction and infrastructure growth of 6% CAGR till 2026.

Join us at The Modular & Prefabrication Construction to earn insightful knowledge and fruitful discussion on understanding emerging construction technologies, including robotics, 3D imaging and even the use of RFID-BIM which are becoming increasingly leveraged to aid the design and development of modular construction. Those technological capabilities are enhanced, sped up and become more cost-effective and sustainable, when utilised in a controlled by factory setting.

WHY YOU CANNOT MISS THIS EVENT

- Identifying the challenges of industrializing your construction process for faster and more efficient manufacturing & assembly of structures
- Learn how integrate and take advantage of features & facilities that compliment your modular buildings
- Gather insights on the overlooked challenges of modular such as insurance & contract management and key legal considerations
- Take advantage of AI and automation to further maximize 3D printing & 5D AR powered BIM designing
